Rivet Manufacturer Avdel turns 75

WELWYN GARDEN CITY (UK) – 5 July 2011 – This year Avdel commemorates its 75th anniversary. As a leading company in mechanical joining, Avdel can look back on a long and proud tradition since its founding in 1936 characterized by innovative ideas and products.

Avdel offers a broad range of fastening systems and solutions for effective and cost-efficient assembly. The concept and design of both the fastener and the placement tooling as a “system” has been maximizing the savings in assembly costs and delivering quality improvements to manufacturers since the company’s foundation. Avdel is a global organisation offering expertise and know-how at a local level.

Avdel systems are used today in all industries, including automotive and vehicle manufacturing, electronics, domestic appliances, heating and ventilation, construction, medical products – in fact just about every manufactured product has, at some time, been assembled, fastened or touched by Avdel technology!

In its 75th year Avdel has introduced NeoSpeed™ a new, innovative and extremely versatile Speed Fastening® system.

Avdel® is one of the leading global product brands from Infastech™. Infastech offers Avdel products through Sales, Distribution and Manufacturing facilities in over 150 countries.
